

GREG ROSE, MD, PhD
President & CEO

Dr. Rose has served as President and CEO of NightRays since its inception in 2005. His scientific background includes a physics B.S. from Bucknell University, a Ph.D. in physics from Texas A&M, university physics teaching of Electricity and Magnetism, General Physics, and Astronomy, and defense research for the US Army. His medical background includes medical school at UTMB, radiology residency at the Baylor University Medical Center, and an MRI fellowship at the Mayo Clinic. He has presented research at Physics and Medical conferences. He has published work in the fields of solid state theory, laser theory, mammography, teleradiology, and MRE. He holds a patent and patents pending. He is the chief architect of the NightRays RIS. He has been in private radiology practice since 1998 and serves as one of the interpreting radiologists for NightRays.

ALAN B. STONE, MD
Vice President, Medical Services

Dr. Stone has been a diagnostic radiologist with NightRays since 2006 and has been recently appointed to the position of Vice President, Medical Services. He recently retired from the Air Force Reserves, completing 30 years of military service, with valuable experience in leadership and management. Board certified in both Diagnostic Radiology and Clinical/Anatomic Pathology with a special interest in early detection of breast cancer, Dr. Stone brings a unique perspective to our practice. Dr. Stone majored in pharmacy at the University of Utah and completed medical school at USUHS in Bethesda, MD. His residencies, in both radiology and pathology, were at the military medical centers in San Antonio, TX.

MELISSA ROSE, CPA
Vice President, Finance

Melissa Rose has managed all aspects of Finance for NightRays since its inception. She comes to NightRays with a background in finance, accounting, product development, product management, and product marketing. Her career started in the public accounting arena with Deloitte and Touche as a CPA, then moved into the financial budgeting and analysis field for various American Airlines subsidiaries. Ms. Rose spent eight years with Travelocity.com where she served as the Director of Project Management. Her various roles at Travelocity.com enabled her to gain extensive knowledge in the product development life cycle as well as product management and marketing. Ms. Rose is a Certified Public Accountant and graduated with honors earning a B.S. in accounting from Millikin University.

KAREN SPROLE, JD
General Counsel &
Vice President, Human Resources

Karen Sprole has served as General Counsel and Vice President of Human Resources since 2008 and has 15 years of broad experience representing clients in commercial litigation at the trial and appellate levels, and has also represented management clients in employment discrimination cases as well as providing advice and counsel on various employment issues. Prior to joining NightRays, Ms. Sprole practiced law at prominent Texas firms and also served as in-house counsel for American Airlines. Ms. Sprole received a degree in English Literature from Dartmouth College and her J.D. with honors from the University of Texas School of Law.

TED TZENG
Vice President, Technology

Ted Tzeng has served as Vice President of Technology for NightRays since 2009 and has over 15 years of experience building and delivering business process management, content management and E-commerce technology solutions. His development expertise is complemented by his extensive experience architecting and managing high availability production environments. Prior to joining NightRays, Mr. Tzeng served as Chief Technology Officer for technology startups including SpireMedia and AccuPost Corporation which was successfully acquired by TransUnion Settlement Solutions. Mr. Tzeng received his B.S. in Business and Economics at the Lehigh University.